

I am writing to object to Pappas Telecasting Companies' 'donation' of $325,000 in airtime to Republican candidates. I don't understand the legalities of this issue but it seems to me that it violate the spirit of the "equal time" provision if not the exact letter.

I find it very worrisome when companies who have been given the responsibility and privilege of managing the public airwaves use this privilege to engage in such gross excesses in an attempt to sway an election without giving the other guy a fair shake.

Pappas is obligated by law to serve the public interest. I don't think their actions show that that they are attempting to serve the public interest in good faith.
